Consolidated Pastoral Company Awards Night

Consolidated Pastoral Company executives were delighted to recognise outstanding staff performance at the 2015 CPC Annual Conference recently held in Brisbane. Trophies, prizes and congratulations were handed out at a Gala Dinner attended by station managers, office staff, industry guests and the very entertaining speaker, former footballer and successful restaurateur, Billie Moore.

This year, CPC employees voted for the winner of the 'People's Choice' Award, which recognises exceptional dedication and hard work exhibited by a staff member. The prize went to Naree Bryce, who has been with the company for 10 years and who regularly goes above and beyond to assist her colleagues. The 'CPC Ambassador' Award winner, Cameron Kruckow, was also elected by fellow employees for the incredible enthusiasm, innovative ideas and positive culture he brings to the company and for promoting CPC's core values of Health & Safety, Leadership, Community, Trust and Value Creation.

Best Operational Performance went to Jimmy Beale, who has returned brilliant results at Kirkimbie since he took on the role of Station Manager in 2013. Jimmy's station portfolio recently doubled with the aggregation of Kirkimbie and CPC's newly acquired Bunda Station. Mimong's Mark Walsh has a talent for fostering great teamwork amongst his crew and he was awarded the trophy for Best Station Teamwork, while Jason and Haylee Purcell were recognised for their excellence in Health and Safety engagement and for always 'Walking the Talk' at Allawah Brahman Stud.

This year's People Developer Award was jointly presented to Tom Shephard and Cameillia Armstrong, who provide quality coaching and mentoring to their team, have excellent staff retention and foster a wonderful culture of open and collaborative communication at Newry Station. Last but not least, the prize for Station of the Year went to Lester Bolton, who was applauded for producing top financial results, turnoff weights and operational improvements at Comely Station year after year.

The CPC Awards Dinner concluded with congratulations to all staff for the terrific work and dedication seen in FY15 and a toast was made to a very prosperous year ahead.
